

Skill development

programme: The Institute of Forest Genetics and Tree Breeding is conducting a month-long green skill development programme on 'Quality Planting Material Producer'. It was inaugurated on Monday by director S Murugesan. The residential training program is being conducted for 64 unemployed youth from across the country. So far, 40% of the trainees in the program have started their own nurseries and one got dealership of a biofertilizers firm.