

Contests lined-up for Wildlife Week

21 September 2021

Panaji: The state forest department will be celebrating World Wildlife Week from October 1 to 8 in collaboration with the Goa Bird Conservation Network (GBCN) wherein various competitions and events are being organised. Wildlife week is observed annually across the country to coincide with the birth anniversary of Mahatma Gandhi.

Like last year, submissions for various competitions will be done online and the participants will be given an e-certificate of participation. Only the inaugural function will be held at the department's head office at Altinho, Panaji.

The festival this year will feature a range of webinars on the importance of forest and wildlife by eminent speakers, beach cleaning drives and awareness exercises at turtle nesting sites. Various competitions like drawing, clay art, poster-making, essay writing and photography will be held, deadline for which is September 24. The forest department has listed different links of Google Docs for various contests on which applicants can apply for participation.

The annual short documentary film making competition has also been thrown open for participants. The deadline for submissions is September 28. More details about the competition have been listed on the Goa forest department website.
